

“Live On” Lyrics

Everybody, everybody wants to know
What’s happenin at the show?
Where did the people go?
Well, why do you have to know?
Has to be another time and day
For all the moments you’re wastin’
You’ve gotta keep on chasin’
Your dreams will take you places

Moving on
When the stakes are high
Takes a lot more courage than it does to hide

We still sing without music
We still breathe without oxygen
We still see without the light
We still believe in ourselves despite
All of the trouble
We came out from the rubble
We still sing
We still sing

Is there anyone who understands
All that we take for granted?
You’re gonna wish you had it
Be left wonderin’ what happened
Even when you’re not accompanied
That don’t stop you from singing
Do more than spread your wings
Create such sweet memories

Moving on
When the stakes are high
Takes a lot more courage than it does to hide

You still sing without music
You still breathe without oxygen
You still see without the light
You still believe in yourself despite
All of the trouble
You came out from the rubble
You still sing

We still sing

Let's make it louder
No need to prove anything
The young are dying older
It's getting colder, put your head on my shoulder
I don't care if you cry
These are the tough times
We can make it
Make it, make it

We still sing without music
We still breathe without oxygen
We still see without the light
We still believe in ourselves despite
All of the trouble
We came out from the rubble
We still sing
We still sing
